AI Joint Venture of ADNOC & G42, AIQ has entered into a partnership with Hub71, Abu Dhabi's global tech ecosystem.

Under the agreement, Hub71 and AIQ will work together to advance the development of innovative digital technology to unlock greater value from oil and gas operations and define a more sustainable and carbon efficient future for the oil and gas industry.

The partnership will enable Hub71 to introduce AIQ to its tech eco-system and facilitate one-on-one meetings with startups working on future energy technology solutions for the oil and gas industry. In return, AIQ will provide access to its E-Novus platform, a data management tool for oil and gas enterprises seeking to accelerate digital transformation and energy transition.
